It is appropriate that we praise our values and freely recognize our nationality in every corner, just as they say that there is no value without value. As long as we have our national traditions, we have a society, we have a homeland, and we have a high place in the world because of our nationality, traditions and customs. As long as we have a nationality, we exist, our values are passed down from generation to generation, and this is our achievement.

Our national epics, fairy tales, which reflect love for the country, parents and people, parables, proverbs, tales, legends, legends are useful to us.

Every nation celebrates something or an event, first of all, it is connected with its national and spirituality. It is a great happiness that every knowledge and education we receive is based on our values. It is our great success if we follow these traditions from our youth. This is a phenomenon that has been ingrained in our hearts since childhood education based on universal human values plays an important role for the future of the young generation.

It is important to teach our values, our national traditions and customs, our value traditions, starting with the students of preschool educational organizations, as they say, "A value that is not appreciated is like a mirage." In addition, it is important to conduct the training process with the children using national fairy tales, proverbs, songs, songs dedicated to love for parents, motherland, and ancestors in every training process. Education in such a spirit is the main goal of preschool education organizations. Just as each nation is distinguished by its own national customs and traditions, our independent Uzbekistan also has its own wonderful, distinctive values. The successors of our generations will pass on such wonderful values. It is the duty of our nation to inculcate in the hearts of our young children. The future prospects of every country, prosperity, peace and tranquility of the country depend on the young generation. Therefore, we need to start this process with love from the children of the preschool education organization. It is important that we pay attention to each of the skills we impart during the education process, that is, during the training process, we pay enough attention to national songs, national games and national musical instruments and explain them. Of course, it is one of our great achievements for the children to inculcate in the children what they did for the Motherland and what they did. It is important that we give a tariff about our national holidays that take place every year and hold a festive event in a suitable way. For example, describing Navroz holiday, national clothes worn on Navroz, national fabrics such as yaktak, atlas adras, national clothes such as sozana, bukharski, national dishes cooked on Navroz, such as sumalak, halm, chuchvara. , it is interesting to celebrate the holiday event in a wonderful way. On the basis of the holiday, our children's feelings, views, thoughts, thinking, worldview, and culture grow and develop.

In the process of training, it is important to focus on teaching national values, traditions and rituals, and educating on the basis of values. Values mean all things that are important for a person and humanity. We interpret the essence of values by fully conveying the traditions of historical experience of people to the next generations, not only by teaching, but also by providing education.

Children's interesting folk theaters, folklore, dramaturgy, video films embodying our traditions, creating opportunities to satisfy their spiritual needs. Or if we take the game process, if we take the guest-guest game, which is one of the favorite games of children, especially girls, this game teaches children the process of waiting for a guest and observing a guest. teaches them, pouring water into the guest's hands, politely ushering them in, politely escorting them, and some other wonderful gestures. It is good to tell children that white poplar or blue poplar games also teach them to be loving.

The fields of national pattern and embroidery of the Uzbek people and its decoration it is important that we focus. In the course of the training, understanding about handicrafts and textiles, how our fabrics are produced, and what processes are carried out is definitely an interesting process for children. Development of children's mind and thinking based on national values.

As we know, education improves the personal development of a person, his understanding of his beliefs, and his views on the environment. Through the education he gives and receives, the future of the child is created and built. Society cannot achieve its future without developing spiritual values in the minds of young people, without mastering and strengthening our traditions. It is appropriate to work based on national values in the minds of our youth.

1. In Ergashev's youth worldview, relying on national and spiritual values includes certain goals and tasks. They are as follows.
2. If young people do not rely on national-spiritual values in their worldview, absolutely foreign values will take place in their minds and thinking. A disdainful view of one's own national and spiritual values is formed.
3. Studying the current state of young people's attitude to national-spiritual values helps to determine which values are becoming more important in their practical activities. The main goal of this is to strengthen trust and faith in the values of their national-cultural heritage.
4. Strong confidence and faith of young people in relation to national-spiritual values comes from the requirements of the unique and appropriate development path chosen by Uzbekistan.

Summary. To what extent our national traditions and values are carried by the children of preschool educational organizations, to raise children with love for the Motherland, to inculcate our national traditions in their hearts, to learn about our national clothes, national games. Growing up on the basis of our national traditions and values, educating children in the spirit of universal human values.
