In the language of the Uzbek people, there are many proverbs about the importance of reading books and getting proper education, doing science, and learning a profession. For example, "A mind without a book is a bird without wings", "A sign of happiness is knowledge", "Knowledge is a lamp of the mind". Such auspicious stories can be continued for a long time. The most important thing is that the real truth behind these folk wisdoms, which have been polished for thousands of years and have been showing the right path to many generations like a guiding star, is that an educated, educated, professional, and certainly happy and An important factor of becoming a citizen is to be a friend of books, to read books all the time and not to forget reading books for the rest of your life. Books have a special place in the happy, perfect, peaceful and prosperous life of young people. Because a good book increases a person's feelings of love for the Motherland, respect for national and universal values, and encourages goodness and goodness. When it comes to this, it should be noted that Istiklal not only returned to us our long-standing high position as a reading nation, but at the same time, it was also the main factor in radically increasing our intellectual potential and opportunities in this regard. Therefore, in the years of independence, special attention has been paid to raising the morale of the population, especially the young generation, further developing our national literature and art, educating young people in the spirit of respect for our national values, and encouraging the work of artists.

In the past period, a solid legal basis of the press, publishing and information sector was created. In particular, more than 10 laws and more than 30 bylaws were adopted in this regard. The President of the Republic of Uzbekistan, Sh.M. Mirziyoyev, signed on January 12, 2017 "On the creation of a commission on the development of the system of printing and distribution of book products, increasing and promoting the culture of book reading and reading". His decree is extremely important as it is aimed at raising these good deeds to a new, higher level.

Even in the psychology of the youth of the world, it is observed that the attitude towards family, i.e. relations between parents and children, the culture of reading books, the attitude towards national and religious values is cooling, and the tendencies of alienation are increasing. In our country, a number of tasks have been defined and measures are being developed to prevent such situations, to protect students from various foreign ideas and threats, and to properly implement their education. As a result, programs have been developed that can serve as an example for other countries. For example, the President of the Republic of Uzbekistan Sh.M. Mirziyoev in his speech at the extended session of the Cabinet of Ministers dedicated to "The main results of the socio-economic development of our country in 2016 and the most important priorities of the economic program for 2017" education, science, defined a number of tasks related to the implementation of the state's youth policy. Among these, we can mention the following opinions on the formation of the interest of students and young people in reading artistic, scientific and historical literature: It is our task to take our work to a new level aimed at further increasing their love and spiritual immunity." In fact, by forming a culture of reading in students and young people, increasing their interest in reading, studying and analyzing scientific and historical works, ideological immunity to various foreign ideas is created in them. Science, society's achievements, progress are made with books, we hear a lot of thoughts and ideas that books are the best teacher in youth, and there is no better friend in old age.

The special role of the book in the formation of each person and the development of spiritual thinking is an important problem. It has been known for a long time that the book has an incomparable importance in the spiritual development of human society and human life. Along with getting to know the world, it is a feeling of instilling love for beauty, enjoyment of it, and hatred of evil.
